This Sake tasting set would suit you. You will have 3 different grades of the Sake classification, JUNMAI, JUNMAI-Ginjo, Junmai-Dai-Ginjo. Enjoy it.

黄桜 濁 にごり酒 - 京都

Daku Cloudy Sake - Kizakura From Kyoto, 180ml 19.8, 720ml 78.9

DAKU means Cloudy in Japanese. Cloudy sake, officially called NIGORI sake, It is pressed and divided into clear sake and the white lees. The taste is SEMI SWEET and mild with fruity nose in a perfect balance when it's brewed with the world famous Kyoto soft water Fushimizu.

大山 特別純米酒 十水 - 加藤嘉八郎酒造 山形 180ml 19.8, 720ml 75.9

Oyama Tokubetsu Junmaishu TOMIZU from Kato Kihachiro Shuzo, Yamagata The nose on this Junmai that drinks very much like a Ginjo is an array of white grape, apple, pear, cucumber and berry essences. A super flavorful sake that drinks silky smooth and juicy but is not overtly sweet. There is a little astringency that speaks to wine drinkers and a smaller cup highlights the flavor ride.

一本義 伝心 雪 純米吟醸 - 福井 180ml 32.9, 300ml 52.9, 720ml 125.9

Ippongi Denshin Yuki Junmai-Ginjo from Fukui

Shichida Junmai - Tenzan Brewing Company From Saga

This sake is Chef Shun's favourite Sake. It is clean and dry taste with fruity aroma. I remember when I got first sip of this Sake, Wow! I liked it straight away. It has a calming, sweet aroma, reminiscent of honey, as well as refreshing aroma of green apple. A refined, mild acidity completes the palate.

瀬祭 純米大吟醸 4割5分 - 山口 180ml 32.9, 300ml 52.9, 720ml 125.9

Dassai Junmai-Daiginjo 45 from Yamaguchi

Rice milled to an astounding 45% of its original size.

On the palate, the apple flavour continues to inject acidity, but it is tempered with strawberries and cream, and sweet peaches. Smooth and delicious. Barely-there dryness in the finish.

浦霞 純米酒 - 宮城 180ml 23.9 300ml 39.8, 720ml 88.9

Urakasumi Junmai from Saura, Miyagi

This Junmai fits perfectly into the category of medium-dry. It has soft nose of rice and dried leaves, and has a pale yellow sheen. It is subtle yet elusive, and all the while it sits remarkably well on the palate. This sake epitomizes a perfectly balanced sake.

Shiro Hakutake - Rice distilled spirits from Kumamoto 11.9

The #1 selling premium rice shochu in Japan - Hakutake Shiro Kome Shochu - is clean and easy with an elegant aroma and a soft mouthfeel. Takahashi Shuzo makes it with water from the Hitoyoshi basin, which is high in minerals, and flavorful rice. Makes a perfect low-calorie vodka replacement in cocktails.

十割 そば焼酎 – 宮崎 25% ALC/VOL

Towari – Buckwheat distilled spirits from Miyazaki 11.9

Rich, nutty, roasted shochu. The aroma is completely roasted grain while the toastiness turns sweet on the tongue. A sharp grassy finish brings you to the heart of the soba grain. Water mellows these flavors considerably and opens up a buttered caramel popcorn flavor that's absolutely delicious.

Shochu is a Japanese traditional hard liquor, distilled spirits made from grains and vegetables. The most common base ingredients are sweet potato, barley, rice, buckwheat and sugar cane. We have Rice one, Sweet potato one and Buckwheat one.

Shochu is distilled liquor, similar to brandy and vodka. However Sake is categorized as fermented liquor putting it in the same category as wine.

Grapes are both fermented to make wine and distilled to make brandy. In Japan, rice can be fermented to make Sake, or distilled to make rice Shochu. Before Sake became famous in west, it sometimes used to be referred to as "rice wine" in acknowledgement of the resemblances between wine making and Sake making.

Wine, as a fermented beverage, has a lower alcohol content than distilled liquors. Similarly, Sake, as a fermented beverage, has a lower average alcohol content (13% to 16%) than does Shochu. As a distilled beverage, Shochu has an average alcohol content of 25% to 37%. Because of its higher alcohol content, Shochu can be enjoyed in variety of ways same as whisky, like with soda water, ginger ale, or lemonade, in a cocktail, on the rock, or even with hot water in Winter. If you are interested in Shochu, we recommend you to try our cocktails, you can taste the Shochu and easy and enjoyable to drink.
